Blount County Is Why We Call East Tennessee Home

Lying in the heart of a beautiful vacation land, East Tennessee's Blount County is nestled in the foothills of the Great Smoky Mountains and surrounded by several great lakes of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

It has an elevation of 989 feet above sea level and covers an area of 584 square miles in the extreme eastern portion of Tennessee. The terrain is hilly and mountainous while much of the county is covered with rolling farmlands.

One of Tennessee's oldest established counties, Blount County is situated near the geographic center of the eastern United States with approximately 50 percent of the U.S. population within a 500-mile drive.

Enjoying one of the entire nation's lowest unemployment rates, East Tennessee provides its Blount County residents through its industrial, service and tourism sectors.

Together, the twin cities of Maryville and Alcoa provide a scenic gateway to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, and are surrounded on all sides by lakes, rivers and streams.
